

JAPANESE AUTHORITY BOYCOTTING OF JAPANESE GOODS IN CHINA

New York—Japan's militarism is the result of French and English aggression in China, according to Dr. Inazo Nitobe, professor at the Imperial University at Tokio, who spoke recently at the George Washington University. "The spirit of militarism that recently has become so apparent in Japan is only temporary," said Dr. Nitobe. "Militarism was forced upon Japan by French and English aggression in China. Japan's militarism is a move in self defense and will disappear as soon as danger to Japan's interests disappears."

From Apricot Pits.

California produces yearly about 7,000 tons of apricot pits, and home chemists now obtain $200 of materials from each ton. The price of the pits, formerly sold in central Europe at $45 a ton, was reduced two-thirds by the war. The products include a fruit substitute for olive oil, the essential oil of apricot (known also as bitter oil of almonds), a cooking meal and a cleansing meal, and American (formerly Prussian) blue.

For Artificial Limbs.

Willow or other wood of a similar nature has heretofore been made use of in the manufacture of artificial limbs, but a cheaper and at the same time superior substitute has been found in a composition in which cellulose largely enters. The composition is made use of by spreading upon pieces of fabric, which are then wound about a mold. The new material is said to be light, easily worked and of trivial cost.

Many Kinds of "Money."

Anything that is used in trade as a medium of exchange or a measure of value, recognized alike by both parties to a transaction, is money. It may be wampum, skins of animals, shells, metal or paper, but it is government authority or by common consent it is recognized as a medium of exchange or a measure of value it is money. Even live animals have served the purposes and uses of money.

Shows Nipponese Business is Camouflaged in the "Chinese" Concerns

Shanghai.—A Chinese company that sells large quantities of low-priced commodity in all parts of China, for the last two years has been conducting an advertising propaganda against the conscription of foreign goods in China, says Mollards Review. Circulars printed by this company have been widely distributed in the interior of the country and the information conveyed by circulars was to the effect that the Chinese people should purchase only "home manufactured" articles. "Keep your money at home. Don't enrich the foreigners," and so on, were familiar sentences used on the posters, the intention being to commercialize on the natural patriotism of the Chinese people. When the Chinese boycott against Japanese goods in China was being organized, the actions of the Chinese company referred to above aroused suspicion, so an investigation was instituted. The investigation brought out, according to reports, the astonishing information that this "patriotic" Chinese company, which has been preaching "buy at home" so eloquently, is itself more than 50 per cent Japanese owned. This information concerning one feature of the boycott is almost as interesting as that conveyed in the correspondence columns of the Review this week by a Chinese who asks the question: "How are we to boycott Japanese merchandise when most of it is labeled 'Made in London' or 'Made in U. S. A.'?"

FLOODS IN SOUTH CHINA CAUSE LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY

Canton.—Rivers in the vicinity of Canton, the great trading center of South China, are flooded. Great damage has resulted, accompanied by a heavy loss of life. The government has begun relief in the affected area.

South China suffered from floods in this region in 1918 which destroyed two crops of rice. The people were just recovering from this disaster when the new floods occurred. A conservancy project is under way to control this.

The Astrologer.

An astrologer, who was famed for his great learning and his knowledge of the stars, went out for a walk. As he walked, all the time looking up at the sky, he said to himself: "Oh, how much wiser am I than most men. All the secrets of the stars are known to me. I read them as other men read books." Thus speaking, he came to a well, but, being far too busy praising his own cleverness to notice it, he tripped and fell in headlong, and there he had to stay until his servant, hearing his cries, came and pulled him out.—Aesop's Fables.

Children's Logic.

"Do you know," said a little fellow of four years of age, "what I thought dark was? A great, huge live thing, the color of black, with mouth and eyes." Another assured his teacher that the wind was alive, for he heard it whistling in the night.

Clerk.

John Tyler's Career.

On March 29, 1790, John Tyler, tenth president of the United States, was born in Charles City county, Virginia. Tyler was inaugurated vice president in 1841 and in the April following he was inaugurated as president to fill the place of William Henry Harrison, who had died. He served as president until 1845. After the organization of the Confederacy Tyler was elected a member of the Confederate congress. He died at Richmond, January 18, 1862.

Hanging Pictures.

It is easy to make mistakes in the hanging of pictures. Observing the following as a guide, you will make fewer mistakes in this respect. First, a plain paper for the room is almost imperative. This will give you an opportunity to use all the pictures, no matter what they are. Soft grays and terra cotta tones are best for background. Avoid figured and highly-colored papers as these prevent the picture from standing out. Be careful not to tilt the pictures too much. Hang them almost flat.

Trinidad Lizard Farm.

On the island of Trinidad there is today a veritable lizard farm which has all the equipment for the successful breeding of these none too common members of the reptile family, which are now known to be indispensable to the sugar planters. In addition to this enterprise a wider search is being made for lizards to help increase the world's sugar output.

No Friends Like Old Friends.

A friend whom you have been losing during your whole life, you ought not to be displeased with in a moment. A stone is many years becoming a ruby, take care you do not destroy it in an instant against another stone.—Sadd.

Where the Folly Lies.

It is hardly ever foolish to do a thing because we want to do it. The folly lies in doing a thing because other people think we ought to want to do it, and we do not.

Potash-Producing Weed.

It is believed that the ash of bracken contains 40 to 50 per cent of soluble potash. In parts of Australia, where the weed grows abundantly, it has been found that a yield of 400 pounds of potash can be obtained per acre. The potassium occurs chiefly as sulphate and chloride.

How Pleasure Comes.

If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it. Toil is the law. Pleasure comes through toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one.—Kuskin.

Are you going to keep cool this summer?

You may say that depends upon the weather man. But you can get the better of the weather man. You can do your own forecasting and promise yourself coolness and comfort all summer. It's all in buying the right kind of clothes—the kind we have ready for you.
